2 A world class line-up of speakers

We've invited both world-renowed experts, most of them published authors, and brand-new voices. They'll share their expertise so attendees stay up-to-date with the lastest UX practices and trends.

Unlike other events, we encourage our speakers to stay for the whole event and join our networking sessions, so there's always the opportunity to have one-on-one chats with them.

3 Lisbon: an exciting and very affordable city

UXLx is set in the stunning capital city of Portugal — Lisbon. The city is budget-friendly, offering quite an affordable price for food, drink, public transportation and accommodation. It's also one of the safest European capitals. With a great year-round climate, it's always fun to stroll down its streets that date back to 1200 BC. There's a lot to discover, from the music and culture, to the delicious gastronomy.

4 Venue is only 10 minutes from the airport

Lisbon airport is very well connected to Europe and the rest of the world, with plenty of direct, cheap flights into it. Our venue is conveniently located a mere 10 minutes from the airport, which means you can catch an early flight into the event and leave on the last ones. There's also plenty of hotels within walking distance, minimising the need for long travel journeys.

5 Networking with peers from all over the world

There are plenty of networking opportunities during the day, as well as at the side events. UXLx attracts 500 attendees from a wide range of fields and dimensions so it's the perfect place to see what others are doing, share new ideas, build relationships, and make connections with others within the field. Our speakers are always willing to chat so they also mingle with the attendees outside sessions.

6 A truckload of knowledge to bring back to your team

We provide printed materials and compile all the knowledge gathered in the event into a pack your employee can take away to share with the rest of the team. Upon getting back, organising a Redux session is the best way to share all of the main insights with the teammates. To top it off, we end up releasing the videos from the talks throughout the year, creating new opportunities to spark discussions around the topics.

How much does it cost?

Registration, accommodation, travel - it comes at a cost. We get it. Your budget might be tight but keep in mind that it's not just about that employee you're sending. It's about how your entire team - in fact, your company - will benefit from the insights and techniques they'll share. You're stepping up your game and it will definitely be money well spent.
